RE-IMAGINING “MY SPACE.” LUKE 2:36-38.

Anna’s life in Luke 2:36-38 invites us to re-imagine the spaces in life we inhabit. Though her years were marked by both legacy and loss, she never left the temple—her place of worship, fasting, and prayer. In her waiting, Anna turned her grief into devotion, her solitude into sanctuary, and her space into prophecy. She reminds us that our circumstances do not define the boundaries of God’s presence. Even in quiet, hidden corners of life, God is speaking, redeeming, and preparing something new. Like Anna, we are called to hold our space faithfully—to listen, to worship, and to see Christ at work right where we are.

To re-imagine our space is to ask: What is God doing with me here? Our church spaces—our homes, our friendships, our grief, our generosity—are all invitations to holiness, not just happiness. When we gather food for those who’ve lost a way to provide for their family, or comfort the grieving, or share laughter, we are reclaiming sacred ground. The God who met Anna in the temple and Hagar in the wilderness meets us, too, in the places we occupy. Every space can become a sanctuary when we allow God to open our eyes to His presence and purpose.
